Reflections

Parsing verbs, vocabulary quizzes, flashcards, grammar books, and dictionaries were the things that filled my first summer while in seminary. I remember it all quite clearly. I had been out of school for several years and suddenly, in the first week of July, I found myself studying for hours every day and annoyed at these "young kids" who seemed to already know everything in my summer Greek class.

Then, one Friday afternoon Joy said, "I think the Jersey Shore is only an hour away! Bring your flashcards and study at the beach with me today." I remember feeling like I couldn't get away, like I needed to double down and study even harder- not go to the beach!

I had left my job, Joy had quit her job, we had moved away from all our friends so I could go to seminary. I had to do a good job; it had to be worth it! She continued asking and eventually I relented, and we went to the shore.

I remember sitting on the beach doing vocabulary cards between enjoying the cooling waves of the ocean. I remember the relief of letting go of the stress and the desire to achieve and simply being in that moment. Friday afternoons at the shore became a tradition that summer and then again when I took summer Hebrew.

What I learned that summer was to receive the gift of Sabbath. In Exodus, God gives the Israelites the law and reminding them of creation, and the seventh day when God rested the law says, "This is what the Lord has commanded, 'tomorrow is to be a day of sabbath rest, a holy sabbath to the Lord.'" My prayer for us this summer is that we would all experience moments of this sabbath rest.

The interesting thing about sabbath is that it is something we receive not something we create or make for ourselves. I can't make sabbath; I receive sabbath because it is a gift of God. It is a grace that is conferred upon us; not something we make for ourselves.

Whenever I think of sabbath, true restful, renewing sabbath, I go back to that shore and the waves that crash over and over without stopping. That is sabbath, that is God's grace. It crashes upon us whether we deserve it or not and it never stops.

So, this summer may you receive God's sabbath, God's grace in new and profound ways. I challenge all of us to be willing to stop and receive this gift of sabbath grace.

Grace and Peace,

Nathan

Summer Class on Prayer June 9—July 21 9—9:45 a.m., Fellowship Hall

While away, one of the things Rev. Steve Jester will be focusing on is prayer. Although prayer is an integral part of the Christian life and practice, it doesn't come easy for many of us. I thought we might "walk along with Steve" on his sabbatical by studying prayer ourselves. One of the resources I will be using is a book, The Way of Perfection, by the 16th century mystic, St. Teresa of Avila.

I hope you will join me on Sunday mornings, beginning June 9, from 9-9:45 a.m. in Fellowship Hall A. Each lesson will be designed to stand on its own as I know many people are in and out of town during the summer. Come when you can and know you will be welcome.

Coffee and Books

As you drink your coffee in the library, take a look around at the reorganized book collection. We have more than 700 books and we're still counting!

Books on family dynamics, illness, Bible study, world religions, Presbyterians, and other categories are all represented in the collection. There is a map of the book categories in the stand with magazines.

While you are there, take a look at our new book series:

John Goldingay's commentaries on the Old Testament in The Bible for Everyone series, The New Interpreter's Bible, a new edition in 10 volumes. These include updated scholarship and are recommended for any Bible study.

Checking out books simply requires a signature and date on the card in the back of the book. Deposit the card in the basket on top of the card catalog. The books are due in four weeks. Put books on the desk to return them.

With questions or to contribute books, contact librarian Mary Mulder (mary.mulder212@gmail.com).

Patty West Retires after 25 years of Faithful Service

Patty West has served our church in many capacities. The last 25 years she has dedicated much of her service and offering to the Weekday School. Patty was the Treasurer of the Board for five years almost 30 years ago and was Board Chair of the Weekday School when Lisa Warner, the Director, was hired. All three of Bill and Patty's children, Dabney, 35, William, 31, and Caroline, 25, completed their journey through the Second Pres Weekday School. Seventeen years ago she stepped in to help the school administration as the Business Manager.

She has served as Lisa's right hand (and truth be told, her left hand too!), always helping to navigate the fiscal responsibilities, licensing, and regulation headaches, and so many behind-the-scenes operations about which no one has any idea. Her calm demeanor and sweet spirit, and the welcoming smile on her face, make the challenging job appear smooth and easy.

Thank you, Patty, for the countless ways you have served this church by serving the thousands of children and families. You have made imprints on all in the last two decades. The school will miss you, though we know where you live so we may be knocking on your door.

Longest Term Teacher at Second Presbyterian Weekday School, Connie Butler, Retires

At the end of school there is always a certain sadness when children and adults move on from their Second Pres experience to their next life chapter. This year, preschool teacher Connie Butler has decided to retire after 30 years of dedicated service to Second Pres and the many families whose lives she has touched. It is only fitting to celebrate our beloved Connie with you.

In August, 1989, Connie began her illustrious career of working with young children under Director Betsy Fulkerson. She began her work with three year olds and ended her career teaching three year olds, teaching twos and fours along the way. Some fun facts about Connie's time at Second:

Over her 30 years, Connie has worked for four different Directors: Betsy Fulkerson, Barbara Lehnert, Kathleen Sandman and Lisa Warner.

Over her 30 years, she has had more than 480 children in her class. Add to that well over 1,000 more children in Extended Day... WOW!

Over her 30 years, Connie has worked with seven co-teachers, teaching 2s-4s: Cheryl Austin, Laura Edwards, Michele Beam, Sherri Romano, Meg Demuth, Nancy Temple and Andrea Vice.

Connie has certainly had working relationships with countless others. She is warm, caring, and an outstanding teacher. She will be missed by all of us here at Second Pres! We wish her well in this most deserved retirement and hope she will enjoy her three grandchildren and sew, sew, sew!

Mary Makulata

Mary, 50, is from the Democratic Republic of Congo and moved to the United States in 2014. She began with Habitat for Humanity of Metro Louisville's homeownership program in June of 2018. She learned about the program from her friend, Bahati Kangeta, and her daughter, Sarah Kazi, both of whom are Habitat homeowners. Mary has three children: Sarah, Tumusifu, and Moses, and five grandchildren: Fatia, April, Alicia, Aubrye, and Alson. Mary has been working at Highland Cleaners for the last three years as a tailor.

Mary is proud of the many accomplishments in her life, including her job, religion, and family. In her spare time, Mary enjoys watching movies and visiting her friends. When she is with her grandchildren, Mary likes to take them swimming and teach them about good behavior and religion. Mary attends worship at Emmanuel Church.

Through the Habitat homebuyer program, Mary hopes to learn how to build a house, budget, build her credit, and learn accountability. Upon receiving her acceptance letter, after applying twice to the program, Mary said she was "very happy, excited, and felt lucky." To Mary, the word "home" means comfort, security, responsibility, and ownership.

To the sponsors and volunteers who will help her build her home, Mary says, "I'm very thankful and I hope you keep helping the under-privileged like you did me. May God bless you."

Looking toward the future, in five years, Mary hopes to own a house, go back to school, and help others.

On Tuesday, June 4, at 10 a.m., Mary Jean Kinsman will present Susan Orleans' latest, The Library Book.

This story is part memoir, biography, history lesson and a reminder of how important libraries have been in our lives, and how they continue to be gathering places that reinforce our sense of community.

Beginning with the devastating fire in the Central Library of Los Angeles in April, 1986, which destroyed or damaged more than a million books, she introduces an arson investigation, book restoration procedures and eccentric characters. For example, one Chief Librarian, so determined to improve the tastes of citizens in Los Angeles, had warning labels printed, as follows:

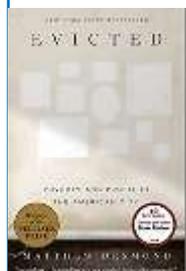

“This book is of the worst class that we can possibly keep in the library. We are sorry that you have not any better sense than to read it.” He was dissuaded from placing the labels however!

This book is a treasure.
